

Now Zai Na Yaoyuan de Difang has become a typical Chinese song for Robin. And besides this song, he also likes Chinese songs such as 999 Roses and Ni Zenme Shede Wo Naguo.

我问多次访问中国的 Robin 对中国音乐的看法。

I asked Robin, a regular visitor to China, his opinion for Chinese music.

他说，“我曾参加过一个音乐人的专业会议，会上也有中国音乐家出席。我对他们说，中国歌曲有独特的吸引力，不是那种类似西方流行乐的中国歌，而是纯粹的当代中国歌曲。我非常喜欢。不仅我喜欢，很多英国歌迷也喜欢。因为我有时候在伦敦 CLUB 里演唱中国歌曲，虽然在场的观众听不懂歌词，但是他们都告诉我，非常喜欢这些中国歌曲。音乐是没有国界的，任何形式的音乐，任何文化的音乐都有它存在和发展的理由和空间。”

“I have attended a professional meeting for musicians and there were also Chinese musicians too.” He said, “I told them that Chinese songs have their special charm. Not the Chinese songs following Western popular songs, but the very traditional modern Chinese songs. I like them very much. And not only myself, but many English audience like them as well. Sometimes when I sing Chinese songs in clubs here, in London, the audience told me how much they like those songs although they don't understand the lyrics. Music has no boundary. Music of every type, and music under every culture, has its own way and reason to develop and flowering.